

I am going to a Sensory Friendly Concert!

The Sensory Friendly Concert will take place on Monday, July 29 at 4:30pm at the Washington Education Services Building.

I will enter the building through the front doors on the right.

The concert will take place on the stage at Tornstrom Auditorium. I will walk down the hallway to the door leading on stage.

When I get onto the stage I will find a place to sit, either on a chair or a carpet square, to enjoy the concert!

During the concert, I will sit in my chair or on the floor. I can get up if my body needs to move.

If I like loud noises I can sit in front close to the musicians. If I like quiet noises I can sit in the back, or ask for headphones.

At the concert I will hear four musicians playing together.
Their ensemble is called the Altius Quartet.

I will see Joshua Ulrich who plays the violin.

I will also see Andrew Giordano playing the violin.

I will also see Andrew Krimm playing the viola.

The fourth musician I will see is Erin Patterson. She plays the cello.

If I need to go to the bathroom I can go out the door and find it right in the hallway.

If I need to take a break, I can go for a walk or find a quiet space to sit in.

If I need help I can ask for headphones or fidgets.

At the end of the concert, after listening to the music, I can raise my hand and ask questions.
